

criminals of the middle part of the city of whom two brothers were chiefs. He was permitted to go with members of the band on robber raids and watch their work and act as "lookout." Mr. Murphy said. Slattery learned that the leaders of the "hold-up" syndicate, as they called themselves, had sub-chiefs to whom certain districts were allotted. Within "their own territory" these sub-chiefs made their own plans and carried them out, calling on the brothers, Slattery's friends, for advice or aid when the enterprise was large enough to warrant it. There was no trespassing by the band of one district into the band of another except by arrangement approved by the main chiefs. The punishment for trespassing was a beating, which did not necessarily stop short of murder or attempted murder.

The robbery of the Nineteenth Street cigar store was the task set for Capt. Slattery to test his qualifications for full initiation into the organization, Mr. Murphy said. Members of the band, including one of the two brother chiefs, were on watch outside "to watch him do his stuff." He had been told that if he were arrested help would be sent to him. His story was verified, after his arrest and confession to Coughlin and Roddy, by the appearance of the persons through whom the aid had been promised.

"Through Capt. Slattery's frank and manly repentance and his bravery," said Mr. Murphy, "the police have already learned all the inside history of six of the principal robberies to which they were absolutely without a clue or the hope of a clue. Nine persons have been arrested, with sufficient evidence to insure convictions. There will be many more arrests."

"The confidence of the District Attorney that the outbreak of crime has been suppressed and the machinery back of it broken is due to Capt. Slattery."

"But," continued Mr. Murphy to the court, "I hesitate to recommend that he go free. His life on the street is not worth a snap of the fingers. Even in the Tomb death threats—and there is no doubt they were made in earnest—have come to him."

"I refuse to take the responsibility from the District Attorney," said Justice Finch. "I shall do what the District Attorney recommends."

Mr. O'Leary then offered to undertake the protection of Capt. Slattery's life by seeing that he was guarded until he could be made safe at some place out of town where the District Attorney and the police could be in communication with him. Mr. Murphy approved the offer and Justice Finch paroled him, postponing sentence until June 21, when he initiated Capt. Slattery would have an opportunity to go free far from New York's underworld to follow his own devices.

The Justices of Special Sessions made a similar arrangement when the former Captain was taken before them to be sentenced for having a revolver in his possession at the time of the robbery.

Carlton was held in $1,000 bail when arraigned before Magistrate Simpson in the Tombs Court. His lighter was held in $10,000 bond. Carlton said he was the sole owner, having paid $6,000 on the purchase price of $11,000. His crew was set free.

HELD AS PERJURER ON HIS REFUSAL TO PICK OUT GUNMAN

Victim of Hold-Up Declines to Identify Man He Twice Had Accused.

Joseph Pinto, No. 347 Elton Street, Brooklyn, was ordered under arrest in a charge of perjury by Magistrate Geismar in New Jersey Avenue Court today after he had refused to identify a man whom he had twice previously identified as one of three gunmen who robbed him of $5,000 in money and jewels on April 16. The Magistrate held him without bail for the Grand Jury on a short affidavit charging perjury.

After the robbery Ciro Adabolo of No. 131 Third Avenue was arrested in a coal bin in the cellar of No. 624 Hendricks Street. After Pinto's complaint two days later, the other charge was set aside. When Pinto declined to identify him this morning, Adabolo was re-arrested and held without bail on the charge of breaking and entering.

DUBLIN AND ULSTER GOVERNMENTS NEAR SPLIT ON RAILWAYS

South Announces It Is Unable to Co-operate With North in an Inquiry.

BELFAST, April 26 (Associated Press).—A breach between the Dublin and Belfast Governments, which Ulster political quarters declare may also entail a rupture of the London agreement, is indicated by a statement issued by the Provisional Government in Dublin this afternoon announcing it is unable to co-operate with the Belfast Government in an inquiry into the Irish railways.

The seriousness of the general situation between the two governments is indicated by a telegram from Michael Collins, head of the Provisional Government, to Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier.

"All here are agreed it is impossible to make any further progress until the vital clauses of the London agreement are fulfilled by you," said Collins in this telegram dated April 22. "They consider your attitude regarding prisoners as most unsatisfactory and entirely out of accord with the letter and spirit of the agreement and your failure to agree to investigation of cases under Clause V, as most unreasonable." (Clause V, of the London agreement of March 30, provided for establishment of a committee in Belfast, with equal numbers of Catholics and Protestants, to hear and investigate complaints of intimidation, outrages, etc.)

DUBLIN, April 26 (Associated Press).—When the Irish Peace Conference was resumed this morning three labor delegates were in attendance in addition to the Irish States, Republicans and mediators who have attended the previous sessions.

The labor delegates were Alderman O'Brien, Thomas Johnson and Cathal O'Shannon. Their presence was taken as a sign that definite peace proposals would be submitted.

Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith represented the Provisional Free State Government and Eamon De Valera and Cathal Brugha (Charles Burgess) the Republicans. The others present were Lord Mayor O'Neill of Dublin and Archbishop Byrne, the sponsors of the conference, and Stephen O'Mara, Mayor of Limerick.

The conference continued into the afternoon, when it was adjourned until Saturday.

The labor leaders in the interval will consult with the other sections of the conference.

De Valera's are in a great measure responsible for the massacre of Catholics in Belfast, Arthur Griffith, President of Dail Eireann, charged when the Sinn Fein Parliament resumed its sessions here this afternoon.

Griffith's speech in favor of a treaty with Great Britain and the Free State, declared insurgents in the South aggravated and incited Orangemen to murderous reprisals in the Ulster capital.

LONDON, April 26 (Associated Press).—Acting Commandant Michael S. O'Neill of the 3d Cork Brigade of the Irish Republican Army was shot and killed near Handon, County Cork, today, the Central News reports.

Commandant O'Neill was accompanying other officers and officials on duty to a farmhouse some distance from the town and was fired at point blank without warning. A member of the farmer's family was arrested.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 26.—Two explosions in textile mills occurred during the night. Police say bombs were set off.

The first was at the Jencks Spinning Company. It tore a hole in the roof. A few minutes later there was a heavy blast at the Crown Manufacturing Company, in South Attleboro. Damage in both plants was slight. Employees at both plants are among the 10,000 textile operatives on strike in Rhode Island.

BREAKS CLAY PIPE AFTER SMOKING IT FORTY-TWO YEARS

Printer Drops It on the Floor, Closing What Is Believed a Record.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 26. What is believed to be a clay pipe record for the United States, if not for the world, is held by Henry Heath, printer of Ellenville. He smoked one pipe for forty-two years each day while at work until it fell on the floor Monday and was shattered. The pipe was purchased by Heath following the discovery by his father that he was smoking cigarettes.

stream by the launch and then the John F. Hyland conveyed it to Pier A. The cargo was transferred to the Harbor Police Station and filled all available floor space there. The tally was 3,000 bags of Calvert Rye or 1,500 cases or at to-day's prevailing market figure, buyer at the water front to make his own delivery, $90,000 worth at $60 a case. Some of the policemen on the unloading job exploited the capture on the basis of a value of $150 a case. From among the prisoners a jeering voice made comment: "This is a case, your eye! That may be some cop's idea of what it's worth, but there's other cops that know a blasted thing better."

A rush into the group of prisoners was made to identify the irreverent one, but he did not disclose himself. Besides Carlton, those held were Albert O'Connor of 673 56th Street, Brooklyn, engineer, and these members of the crew, all of whom, after consultation, agreed that they "lived at the Mill Hotel"; James Foster, James Donahue, Albert Swanson and James Callan.

Carlton said he took the cargo from the three-masted schooner Alfred Thompson off Montauk Point at 6:30 A. M. yesterday morning, and was told to deliver it "somewhere on the Brooklyn waterfront." He had forgotten the exact spot, he said.

Among other things which prohibition enforcement endeavors know and cannot seem to prove in court is that big shipments of Calvert Rye are being made from Baltimore by water to this port. The process avoids the perils of official or robber seizures in railway or motor truck transportation. It is also reported that it is easier to get out contraband from the Baltimore waterfront warehouses on the water side than from the doors which open on the city streets.

Deep thought was also expended at prohibition headquarters on the possibility that Capt. Mathias Stanley Clarke's converted submarine chaser, Ficus, which was "overwhelmed and robbed by pirates off Montauk Sunday morning early on her way from Bermuda to Montreal"—let Capt. Clarke tell it—may have paused awhile off Baltimore on her way up the coast.

Problem for Izzy Einstein, when not otherwise employed: "How much would 'agents,' going aboard an 'outside transfer boat' to take off 1,500 cases of rye, be willing to pay for 230 cases of Haig & Haig Scotch consigned to Montreal at $30 a case?"

Magistrate Simpson in the Tombs Court held Carlton, who acknowledged ownership of the Ideal, in $1,000 bail for Grand Jury. The boat was put under $10,000 bond. The members of the crew were discharged.

U. S. AGENTS TO STOP ALL SMUGGLING AT CANADIAN BORDER

William Williams, in charge of special agents of the Customs Service here, advised today that under orders from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Elmer Dover he had sent twenty-five men of his bureau to the Canadian border Sunday. They went singly or in small groups and took station at Ogdensburg, Malone, Moore and Rouses Point.

Their duties are to stop smuggling. The Treasury Department has learned that with the stimulation to resourcefulness and speed given to the trade of smuggling by the big revenues of bootleggers, all sorts of dutiable articles are now coming over the border in truck convoys, narcotics not being the least valuable.

The new customs cord will co-operate with the prohibition enforcement officers, and will have the use of a

FINES IMPOSED ON 108 PATROLMEN

Record Number to Lose Pay for Petty Infractions Indicates Tighter Discipline.

In the publication yesterday of special orders imposing fines upon 108 members of the police force for infractions of rules, was seen a tightening of the reins of discipline which has been forecast in recent orders issued by Police Commissioner Enright. The list is the largest made public in a long time.

Two officers were fined two days' pay each for failure to "prevent, discover or report a burglary," while one loses two days' pay for having "failed to prevent a burglary in a jewelry store."

Five patrolmen attached to the 23d Precinct lose two days' pay each for playing poker in the dormitory of the station house. One officer loses one day's pay, because while assigned to raided premises to prevent immoral dancing he "did allow an immoral dance by five dancers." Many of the fines are imposed because the officers could not be found on post or were seen coming from buildings.

One patrolman who is fined one day's pay the record reads: "While assigned to raided premises, was seen standing inside of closet holding a bottle containing amber colored liquid."

PENCILS AND PENS HOLD UP TRAIN

Babylon Commuters Get Cold Dinner as Result of Great Chirographical Race.

Most of the lawyers, bankers, professional and business men who commuted on the Long Island 10:24 train from the Pennsylvania Station last night arrived at their homes in Rockville Centre, Freeport, Babylon, etc., very late and very indignant. The train's conductor held down the speed while officials obtained from each passenger his signature on a blank pad of paper to compare it with the signature upon his commutation ticket. And what caused a small sized riot in each car was the announcement that the performance would be repeated on the way to the city this morning.

A prominent lawyer, in car No. 2, and an unlicensed driver, in car No. 3, suffering passengers that delaying the train for such a purpose was illegal, and advised against their signing. Some refused to sign. A banker declared that the train's arrival fifteen minutes late in Babylon would mean his spending $2 for taxi fare instead of 5 cents on the trolley. "There were threats to sue the railroad."

MINERS CHARGE OPERATORS HAVE GUNMEN IN COURT

Operators Also Assert Witnesses Are Being Intimidated by Armed Men.

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., April 26.—Charges that gunmen of the coal operators are intimidating defense witnesses in the court room here, where West Virginia miners are on trial for alleged treason, murder and assault growing out of the Logan County mine war last summer, were made by defense attorneys today.

The charges of the miners came after Prosecuting Attorney Belcher objected to furnishing a list of State witnesses, on the grounds that "a number of State witnesses are being intimidated."

Defense counsel Mason then hurled back at the State the charge that it was "operators' men" who were armed for intimidation purposes.

"We are able to show, if necessary, that it is the witnesses for the defense who are being intimidated," he said. "There are armed men in the court room now and there have been armed men here at every session."

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., April 26 (Associated Press).—The trial of William Blizard, mine union official and alleged leader in disturbances in the coal fields of Kanawha, Boone, and Logan Counties, on a charge of treason was expected to-day to meet more legal hurdles to be surmounted before it could get under way.

The trials were further delayed again to-day when Judge J. M. Woods ordered an adjournment of court to give the State time to prepare information requested by the defense in the case of William Blizard, an officer of the United Mine Workers, indicted for treason.

Court adjourned until to-morrow, when the prosecution will present a list of local unions alleged to have furnished money to finance the march.

MINERS TO MEET OPERATORS TO-DAY

Efforts Will Be Made to Settle Anthracite Strike at Conference.

Efforts to settle the anthracite coal strike will begin late this afternoon at the Union League Club, according to Philip Murray, Vice President of the United Mine Workers of America.

The operators, in response to insistent demands of union officials, agreed to meet to-day to discuss wages after the sudden postponement yesterday. The men, he admitted, are restive over the "marking time" policy of the operators and unless progress is made the union will adopt more aggressive tactics.

The operators, in their headquarters at the Pennsylvania Hotel, persisted to-day in refusing to see newspaper men, even to confirm Mr. Murray's statement the conference would be resumed this afternoon. The latter, after ridiculing reports of separate State agreements, expressed complete satisfaction with the progress of the strike in the bituminous field. He refused to comment upon President Harding's proposed plan of ending the Nation-wide strike.

DIES IN FALL FROM TRIBUNE BUILDING

Victim Believed to Be Charles West, an Insurance Agent, Living in Elizabeth.

A man about fifty years old, in whose pocket was found an identification card bearing the name Charles P. West and the address No. 50 Read Street, Elizabeth, N. J., was instantly killed just before noon to-day, when he jumped or fell from a window or the roof of the Tribune Building, down a light shaft. He crashed through a skylight and a steel netting, breaking practically every bone in his body.

Employees of J. Einstein, Inc., of No. 7-11 Spruce Street, dealers in shoe specialties, heard the crash of the falling body and found the man dead when they extricated him from the entangling frayed steel netting. Patrolman Martin Keefe of the Oak Street Station called an ambulance from Volunteer Hospital.

The cards found in his pockets indicated that he was an insurance agent employed by the Globe Insurance Company. He was about thirty-five years old and well dressed.

At the offices of this company, No. 18 Liberty Street, it was said that Charles P. West had desk room in the offices of the American Surety Company, No. 115 Broadway, of which Arthur West, a brother, was one of the Vice Presidents.

The dissolution to-day by Supreme Court Justice Delahanty of the French Heroes Lafayette Memorial Fund, Inc., upon the petition of a majority of its directors, disclosed that it has distributed $1,739,909 since its organization in 1917. The fund was organized for the relief of disabled soldiers, war orphans and widows and other dependents of deceased soldiers.

NEW TARIFF BILL DOUBLES RATES, SAYS SIMMONS

Would Lead to Higher Cost of Living, More Monopoly, and Unemployment.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Administration Tariff Bill, if passed in its present form, will lead to higher costs of living, reduced production, unemployment and further monopolization of American industries, Senator Simmons of North Carolina, the Democratic leader in the tariff fight, declared to-day in the Senate.

"A careful study of the bill in connection with existing conditions here and abroad," Senator Simmons said, "makes it perfectly clear that it was framed with a view to maintaining present prices and to enable the industries which it protects to further advance these excessively high prices without incurring the risk of foreign competition."

"I think there can be no doubt," he added, "that the potential rates of this bill are almost if not quite double those of the present law."

Senator Simmons asserted that the "rule manifestly adopted and followed" by the Finance Committee in fixing rates "violates every theory or principle of protection heretofore avowed or proclaimed by the champions of protection, including the Republican Party in this country, and with the super-added rate-making powers conferred upon the President, makes rate fixing almost as much a matter of political and personal patronage as the distribution of Federal official appointments."

"This section of the bill," he continued, "undoubtedly gives the definition of the principle upon which rates are made, and it is the difference in condition of competition in trade. Not to equalize differences based on cost of production here and abroad. Not to equalize differences based on cost, plus a reasonable profit equally accorded to the domestic producer and the foreign producer. Not to equalize differences in intrinsic value at all, but to measure the differences in competition in trade. That is to fix a rate which will bring up the foreigner's price to the price at which the American producer sells his product in the American market, without any reference to what part of that price represents production cost and how much of it represents profit."

"The theory of the tariff bill is that however high the selling price of the American article is, however extortionate the profit covered up in that price may be, the price of the foreign article is to be raised so as to make the two articles competitive."

He said that the tariff bill is the theory of the tariff bill is that however high the selling price of the American article is, however extortionate the profit covered up in that price may be, the price of the foreign article is to be raised so as to make the two articles competitive."

proposals are. To-day's questions are designed to float.

The Russians will be required to answer promptly and in as plain language as that in which the queries are framed. Meanwhile, the various commissions of the conference are continuing to reach out toward agreements or are laying the bases for further and more detailed conferences.

The Transportation Commission, for instance, has called for an international railroad conference. The financial sub-division proposed an international meeting to discuss a consortium scheme for Russia, having rejected the Soviet proposal of a $2,500,000,000 cash loan.

The French delegation expressed approval of the categorical questions prepared for the Russians, although in many instances Barthou would have preferred them to be even stronger. It was said, if Lloyd George's plan brought the Russians to terms, well and good, the French said. If not, France herself would probably have to take independent action.

PHILIPPEVILLE, Algeria, April 26 (United Press).—"The Allies have agreed to nullify any part of the Russo-German Treaty that infringes the Treaty of Versailles," President Millerand of France declared in a speech here to-day.

FIVE RUSSIANS ARRESTED IN GENOA

Kerensky's Former Secretary Among Prisoners—Had Plans of Soviet Hotel.

LONDON, April 26.—(Associated Press).—Five Russians, including Kerensky's former secretary, Boris Savinkoff, were arrested in Genoa by the Italian police on Sunday, says a despatch to the Daily Herald. Savinkoff arrived in Genoa under a false name and with a forged passport and the police found he and his companions had a plan of the hotel at which the Russian Soviet delegation is staying.

The correspondent says that Savinkoff, since the Bolshevik revolution in Russia, has been the chief link between the French Government and the succession of anti-Bolshevik military leaders and that a month or two ago he was in London in close consultation with Prime Minister Lloyd George and Viscount Curzon, the Foreign Minister.

TEXAS DEATH LIST FROM FLOOD GROWS 48 NOW MISSING

Of These 36 Are at Fort Worth—River Falling—Windstorm Kills 1.

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 26 (Associated Press).—Forty-eight persons are dead or missing in the Trinity River flood here, a revised list to-day indicated.

The list includes: Breckenridge, three reported drowned; Grand Prairie, four missing; Palmer, two reported drowned; Sonora, one drowned; Belton, one drowned; Mountain Creek, one man reported killed in windstorm yesterday.

Search for the dead and missing, the result of yesterday's overflow, was started at daylight when squads were sent out to comb the districts where flood waters had begun to recede. The unofficial death list still stands at twenty.

The Trinity River had fallen to 33.4 feet at 8 A. M. The lowest in twenty-four hours, after a sharp rise during the night. This is only three feet above the flood stage.

The flood is far from city-wide, although extensive sections on the northwest and southeast slopes shown as North Fort Worth, Arlington Heights, and Sycamore, about twenty-five square miles, are inundated. Early to-day streets in the business section were flooded to the curbs from the heavy rains.

Sentries with rifles were almost alone on the streets early to-day. There were 250 American Legion men co-operating with the police.

Mayor E. R. Cockrell has denied that the levees had been dynamited, as asserted by Chairman McCain of the Levee Board. D. L. Lewis, City Engineer, declared that it broke under the pressure of the flood.
